

ANNOUNCING RAV SIACH

A Program to Foster Israel-Diaspora Relationships

The Rav Siach program which began operating during the summer of 2015 with over 100 congregations and rabbis, is matching Conservative congregations around the world with Masorti congregations in Israel. The aim of this initiative is to create a conversation between the two communities on the key issues confronting Israeli society and Jewish communities around the world. Rav Siach strives to develop, through the exchanging of ideas and studying together, a partnership which can transform individuals and communities, moving away from the previous notion of one-sided support that framed Israeli/Diaspora relationships for more than half a century.

Congregation Shaaray Shalom is partnering with Kehilat Torat Hayyim in Herzliya.

First meeting: Sunday, September 16, 2018 at 10:00 am in the Wachtel Room.

Come meet their members and Rabbi Barry Schlesinger.

Sponsored by the Masorti Movement in Israel and the Israel Ministry of Diaspora Affairs.
